

On the occasion of the 150th anniversary of the first discoveries of portable art in the Vézère Valley, the Centre National de Préhistoire and the Musée National de Préhistoire will host an

INTERNATIONAL COLLOQUIUM

« The portable art of the Upper Paleolithic »

*The "Mammoth of La Madeleine", discovered in 1864 by E. Lartet.
Tracing and picture P. Paillet*

June 16 to 20, 2014

Les Eyzies-de-Tayac-Sireuil
Auditorium of the Musée national de Préhistoire

The sessions will address all of the current fields of research on Paleolithic portable art: current methods and questions, the contextualization of recent and early discoveries, the territoriality aspects and potential complementarity of sites with portable and parietal art.

A session will also be devoted to recent research developments.

Free entry with registration

Registration begins on September 15, 2013
Presentation proposals must be sent before October 15, 2013
Abstracts must be sent before February 15, 2014

Information : artmobilier2014@gmail.com