At the Institute of Prehistory a position is available from July 1st 2014. We invite applications for a three-year PhD-studentship on a archaeological subject in Iberia. The appointment is offered as part time (23,90 hrs/week) with a payment according to TV-L E13 (60 %).

Project and aims:

The CRC 806 deals with population dynamics and dispersal processes of modern man. Pending grants, it will be set to a 2nd phase by the German Research Foundation (DFG) to continue work on July 1st 2013 at the Universities of Aachen, Bonn and Cologne. The project C1 "Continuity or Discontinuity? Patterns of Land Use and Climatic Changes in the Late Pleistocene of the Iberian Peninsula" is part of a multidisciplinary working environment in Geography, Prehistoric Archaeology and Geology.

The PhD candidate will do the support of excavation and collection work. Main focus will be the analyses of rock art and mobile art as cultural markers from Solutrean and Magdalenian context. Further tasks are data management (NESPOS) and publishing.

The candidate will be based at the University of Cologne (Institute of Prehistory) and will undergo a full program of training in transferable skills organized by the graduate school of the CRC 806. More information on the CRC and the project C1 are available at www.sfb806.uni-koeln.de.

Applicant requirements

We are looking for a creative and self-motivated candidate with an outstanding MA or MSc. degree in Prehistoric Archaeology. Experience with GIS is a plus.

The University of Cologne is an equal opportunities employer. Applications would be particularly welcome from disabled people who may meet the job requirements and will be preferred under provision of equal qualification. Female scientists are strongly encouraged to apply and will be preferred in the case of equally well-qualified candidates.

Details of the job profiles and application procedures may be requested from Prof. Gerd-Christian Weniger. Please send written applications (CV, letter of motivation) via email to Prof. Gerd-Christian Weniger (weniger@neanderthal.de).
