An intensive one-year programme combining the study of human and animal bones from archaeological sites

MSc OSTEOARCHAEOLOGY

This research-track masters focuses on human and animal bones. The programme offers both lab-based practical sessions and theoretical lectures. Students play an active part in the shaping of their own programme of study and developing their own original research project. For more information contact:

u.albarella@sheffield.ac.uk http://www.shef.ac.uk/archaeology/postgraduate/masters/courses-available/osteoarchaeology

Department of Archaeology